New Short Documentary - "Oil in Eden: The Battle to Protect Canada's Pacific Coast"

Watch this new 16 minute documentary - produced by Damien Gillis for Pacific Wild - on the battle to stop the proposed Enbridge Northern Gateway Pipeline from the Alberta Tar Sands, and the associated oil supertankers that would gravely threaten BC's spectacular coast.

Starring the iconic creatures and landscapes of the Great Bear Rainforest - highlighted by world-class video and photographs - plus Ian McAllister, Andrew Nikiforuk,

President of the Coastal First Nations Gerald Amos, and the formidable Gitga'at elder Helen Clifton, "Oil in Eden" provides an essential summary of the key issues involved in this battle over the pipeline, tankers, and Canada's Pacific coast.

Great Bear RAVE

From crystal blue waters teeming with aquatic life to the unique kinship ties that unite a wolf pack, some of the world's top nature photographers have recently captured the wonder and movement of plants and animals that call Great Bear Rainforest home during the latest R.A.V.E. (Rapid Assessment Visual Expedition).

A joint collaboration between Pacific Wild and acclaimed photographers from the International League of Conservation Photographers (iLCP), the first RAVE multimedia exhibit was held at the Museum of Vancouver last week. Check out some of the media highlights from the RAVE and stay tuned to our website as more international media focus on the Great Bear and Pacific Wild's work in the coming weeks. We continue to upload Dispatches from the RAVE, providing a unique perspective into the dire situation facing Great Bear Rainforest while also allowing readers to get "in the minds" of some of the 21st century's

Taking the photos was only half the battle. Now the iLCP and Pacific Wild are using the images in a visual action campaign to secure a legislated ban on oil super tanker traffic in the Great Bear Rainforest and stop the Enbridge pipeline. To do this, we need your help. Please consider making a donation to help us launch a travelling exhibit and a mission to take the RAVE images to the doorstep of Enbridge, Inc. Want to get involved?

Once again we ask you to show your support for Pacific Wild and the Great Bear Rainforest by telling everybody – family, friends, neighbors, strangers in the supermarket! – about the plight of Great Bear. Share it on your blog, Facebook and Twitter. A

On the Line - Frank Wolf and Todd McGowan engaged in a self-propelled journey along the proposed Northern Gateway pipeline and tanker route. A documentary is in the making.

StandUp4GreatBear - Norm Hann travelled from Kitimat to Bella Bella on his stand up paddleboard last May, visiting local communities along the way. Watch Norm at the Great Bear RAVE.

Facebook Pacific Wild page has been launched to celebrate the RAVE project - so get on the bandwagon and add us to your friends list!

And take a few moments to tell the elected leaders of Canada that you strongly oppose bringing crude oil to the Great Bear Rainforest by writing them a letter. Visit our Take Action page for further information. While you are at it, you could also write a letter to Enbridge, Inc. too to make them aware that you don't want their pipelines coming anywhere near the Great Bear Rainforest.

Please consider making a contribution to Pacific Wild's conservation efforts in the Great Bear. SUPPORT PACIFIC WILD. . .
